Due to new Safety Requirements, all memorials must now be fixed using a “mechanical fixing method” to ensure that the memorial cannot be pulled or pushed over.

Councils are now testing every memorial in their cemeteries and churchyards every five years, to ensure that the memorials have not become unstable. (Memorials which fail are the responsibility of you, the grave owner, and must be rectified)

Pollard’s, in association with the National Association of Memorial Masons (NAMM) guidelines, guarantee that memorials fixed by us will withstand these tests, and will not be pulled or pushed over. All memorials from Pollard’s will be fixed to these specifications.
